Hey CHELLE, CHELLE!
Having you in office ocp. was fun. You and David. George helped to more things on and me in the middle. Always doing something! You were a big help and at times I needed you.
Hope I have you in some of my classes next yr.
Have fun over the summer
Wynde Leonard

Michelle,
Hope you had a good summer. Did you come up on the 4th? (Hah! Hah!) Boy we had some good times. Maybe we could get together sometime. Drop me a line and let me know what you're doing. Time — a standard measurement. Webster's New World Dictionary defines time to be "the passing hours, days, years, etc. every moment there has ever been or ever will be. We, as students, spend a great deal of time in school. These years are more than a series of days we spend studying. In high school we learn about ourselves through other people. School is really

TIME TO BE TOGETHER.

Our principal, counselors, and teachers supervise us as we go, work, learn, play, and prepare for the future. We support and encourage each other in our own searches for individuality, as well as coordinate ourselves to spur success for clubs, teams, and our classes. Our school is not merely a place; rather, it is the people — youth and adults striving for the best — together.

Even at the very beginning of the year, students took a full part in both school activities and after school fun. Football kicked off the action, and the season sparkled from exciting games and spirited pep rallies. Friday night games, seen from behind confetti, popcorn, and heavy blankets, were still an important part of everybody's life. Open-house and victory parties frequently took place after the games. As the season drew to a close, the spotlight turned to the Presidential race. Students participated in their own election, using posters for each candidate. Away from the political scene, the question of future plans concerned most students. Seniors and juniors attended College Day at Catawba College to meet with many area school representatives. Some fads included the "prep" look, trying Red Man chewing tobacco (just the guys!), and doing the shag dance steps. Music, then, had to include beach music, as well as Devo's new wave sounds, Molly Hatchet and the Southern rockers, P-Funk's best, Jackson Browne, and Pink Floyd, just to name a few. Popular foods were still hamburgers and pizzas. Sadly, the school cafeteria did not rank as the popular eating spot. We all had our own place in the busy life at school and

Everybody Got Involved.

Snow during the winter months hampered the school schedule, but gave everyone a break. As spring came, we buckled down to the final months. The Junior-Senior Prom and research papers were two big events. June came at last, bringing final exams, a tearful graduation, and many trips to the beach.

Dressing mostly for comfort, but also for style, students depicted many types of fashion. The Prep look — Topsiders, Skyr turtlenecks, oxford shirts, monograms, loafers, Lacostes, Pappagallo, pink and kelly green almost dominated

The Different Ways We Dressed.

Another style tended more toward disco-bright colors and designs, baggy jeans, high heels, and wild hair-dos. However, those traditional blue jeans still were a great favorite, especially since the designer brands — over 200 styles!.

Many controversial issues took place both internationally and nationally this year. In Iran, American hostages remained in captivity whil world nations watched anxiously as officals attempted to free them. Iraqi troops attacked Iran, causing more turmoil in the Mid-East. In the mean time, the Iranian people continued to live under the dominating rule of rapidly aging Ayatollah Khomeini, Time magazine's Man of the Year. In the U.S., the draft question caused a great discussion among youth, and a registration for a possible draft resulted. This period of doubt spread from the military to the national defense. This became a point of anger and fear. Many Americans wondered. The main event, though, was the 1980 Presidential election. As voting day neared, the outcome was too close to predict. The Independent candidate, Anderson, had a great problem in his need to convince people that a vote for him was not a vote for Reagan. The campaign trail was a long, hard one for everyone — the men running as well as the public who had to bear witness to the competition. Two debates took place; however, the three main candidates never met together — always just two of three. The hardest confrontation was, however, between boxing legend Muhammed Ali and Larry Holmes. Finally, the unstable economy gave every citizen a chance to practice penny-pinching.

City Administration

City administration officials continued to do a superior job in local schools. For the '80-'81 year some of their major projects were: Dedicating the art gallery at Duncan Center to Mrs. Ida H. Duncan; installing new showers for the boys' lockerroom at SHS; teaching a new training vocations class for the trainable mentally handicapped; and starting a course on decision making and drug education for 5th, 6th, and 8th grade students. As usual city administration officials, led by Dr. Marcus C. Smith, spent the past year improving the city school system.

School Administration

The passing of a great year may be accredited to the addition of new administration members. Mr. Windsor Eagle headed the staff and student body as Salisbury High's new prinicpal. Coach Bobby Pharr exerted much time and energy into his new office as the assistant principal. Mrs. Gloria Gray boosted the new year as the clerical aid for the essential skills program, and Mrs. Rosemary Bradshaw kept busy throughout the year as office secretary. New faces and new offices provided the students with excellent leadership.

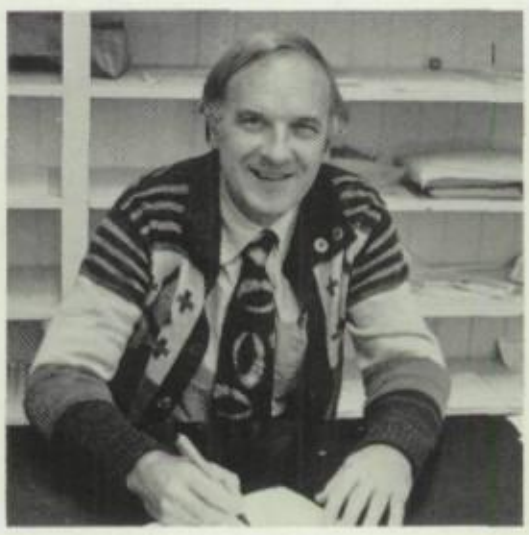
Mr. Ned Towell taught students at SHS Distributive Education this year.

Mr. Bill Tunstall taught the SHS students Industrial Cooperative Training this year.

Mrs. Pat Wagoner taught Home Economics to her students; they enjoyed cooking the most.

Ann White directed classes in Life Science and Chemistry. She was the head of the dept.

Mrs. Geraldine Winford served as an aid under Mrs. Harrington in Special Education classes.



Mr. Mickey Young enhanced the music abilities of Band members here at SHS this year.

Mrs. Ruth Young taught English IV and IV-A to seniors at SHS this year.

Guidance Department

One of the various activities of the Guidance Department was the administering of PSAT, SAT, and other types of important tests. The department was also more than willing to help the seniors who were thinking about their future. The sophomores and juniors were always assured that they could find a friend as well as a teacher whenever they needed someone to talk to.

SA Activities

Acting as a voice for the student body, the governing student Association came up with many new ideas. They helped to start a cross-country track team and a swim team. On behalf of the students, the SA enacted a proposal for adding "O" and "7th" periods. They also gave four hundred dollars for the purchase of a van exclusively for SHS. A light bulb sale increased the financial funds for many school and community projects. The spirit chain competition and sale of student directories were successful as annual occurrences. The SA sponsored a dance for the students' entertainment.

English

English continued to be a challenging subject for all students at SHS. The sophomores studied grammar and Shakespeare; the juniors wrote their first research paper and studied American literature. The seniors studied Anglo-Saxon literature and Beowulf. Creative writing students learned to make better use of their imagination in their writing assignments. Action-oriented activities were also taught in the classroom.

Language

French and Spanish Clubs worked on many interesting projects during the '80-'81 year. The Spanish Club started off its year by having a taco supper, while French students began the new year by viewing a French play. Both language classes participated in "cultural experience" days where the students baked and tasted dishes from different countries. Students in all classes worked on improving their diction.

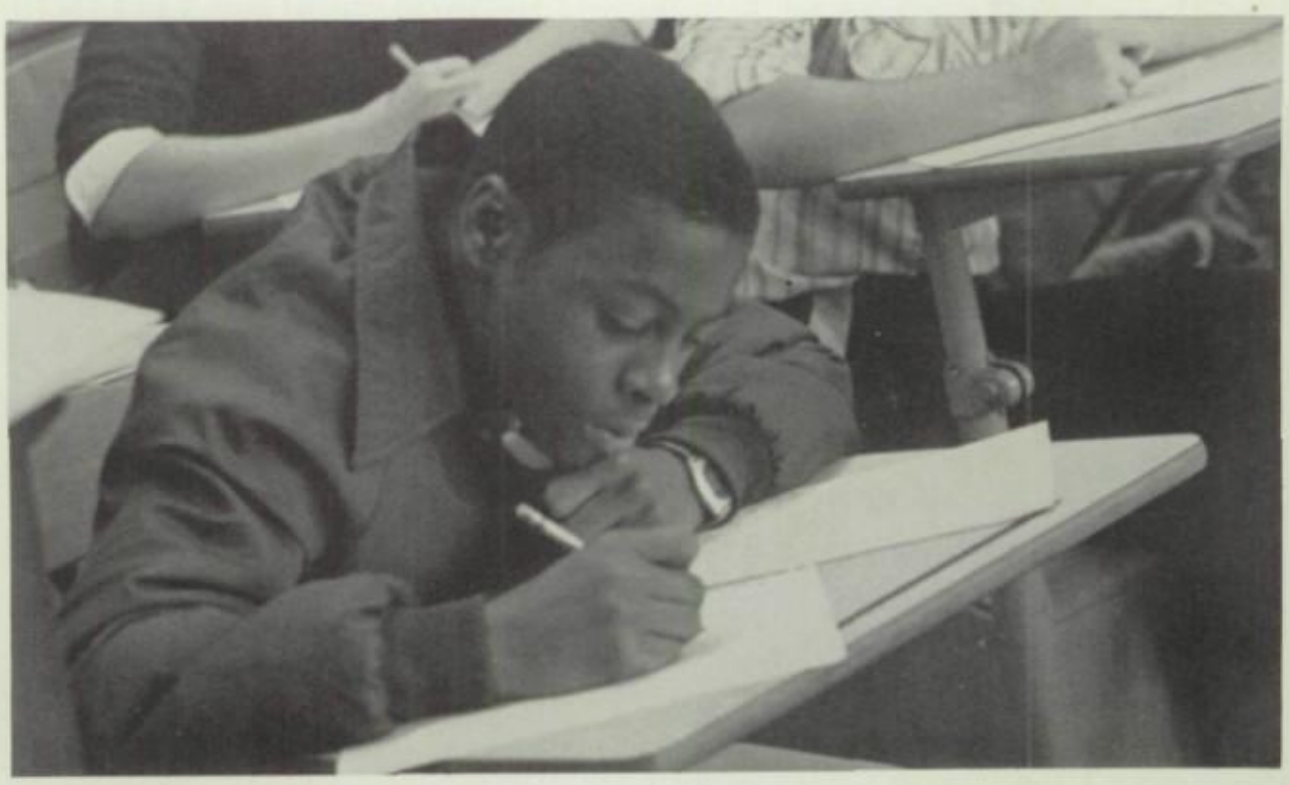
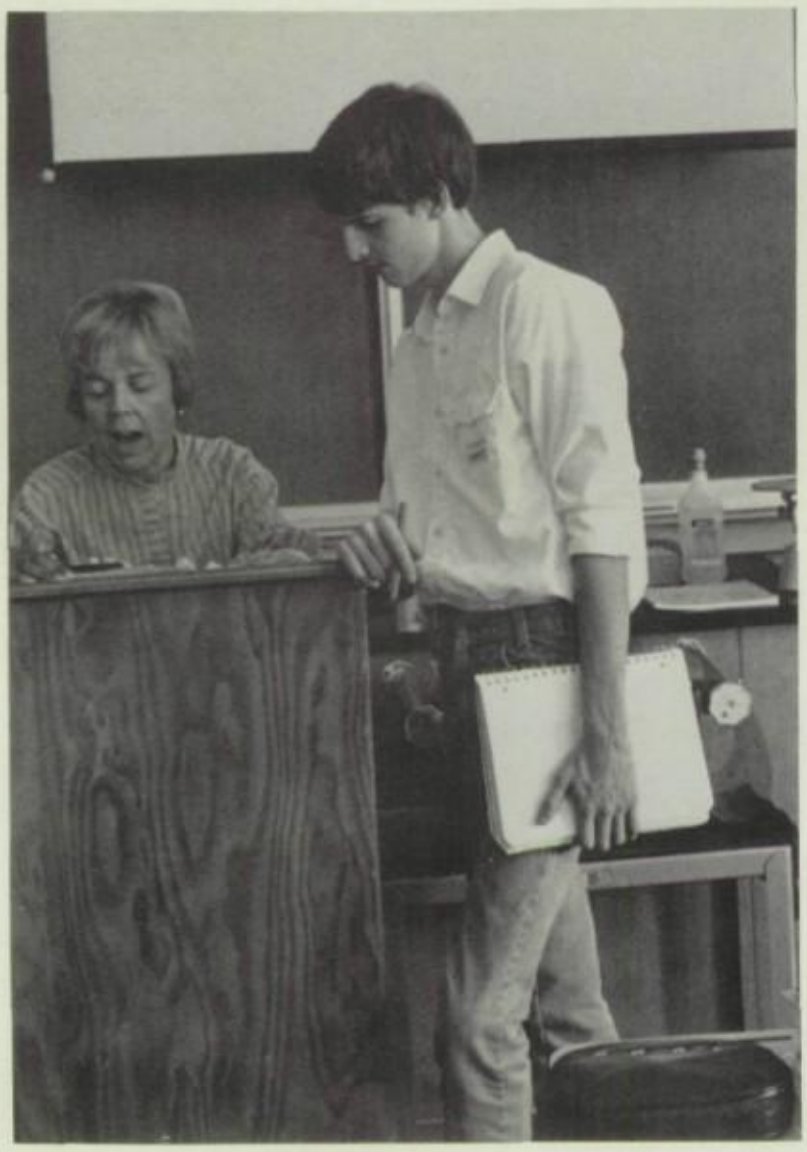
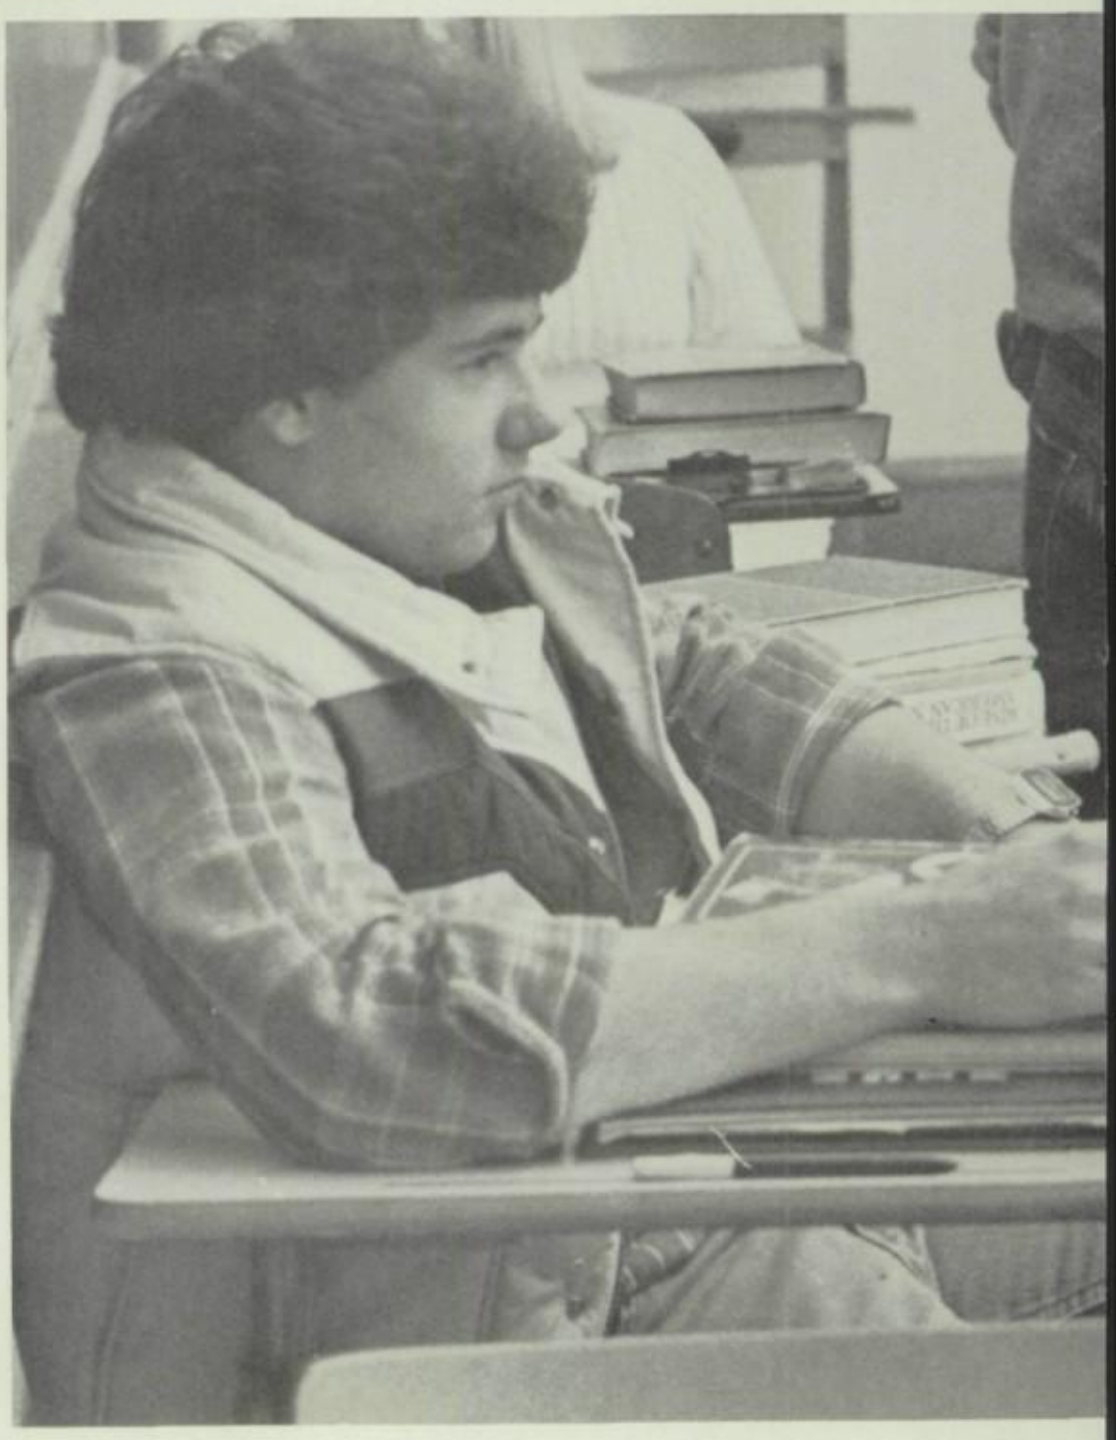
Math

With the Competency Test, PSAT, and SAT, a large amount of the students enrolled in the math classes at SHS, extending from Career Math to Advanced Math. The need for a good background in math was one that was recognized by the students. Fannie Butler, the chairman of the department, saw that everyone in the department knew all of the different ways to instruct the class. The students appreciated their classes.







Top: Raynard Byers worked very hard on his math test.

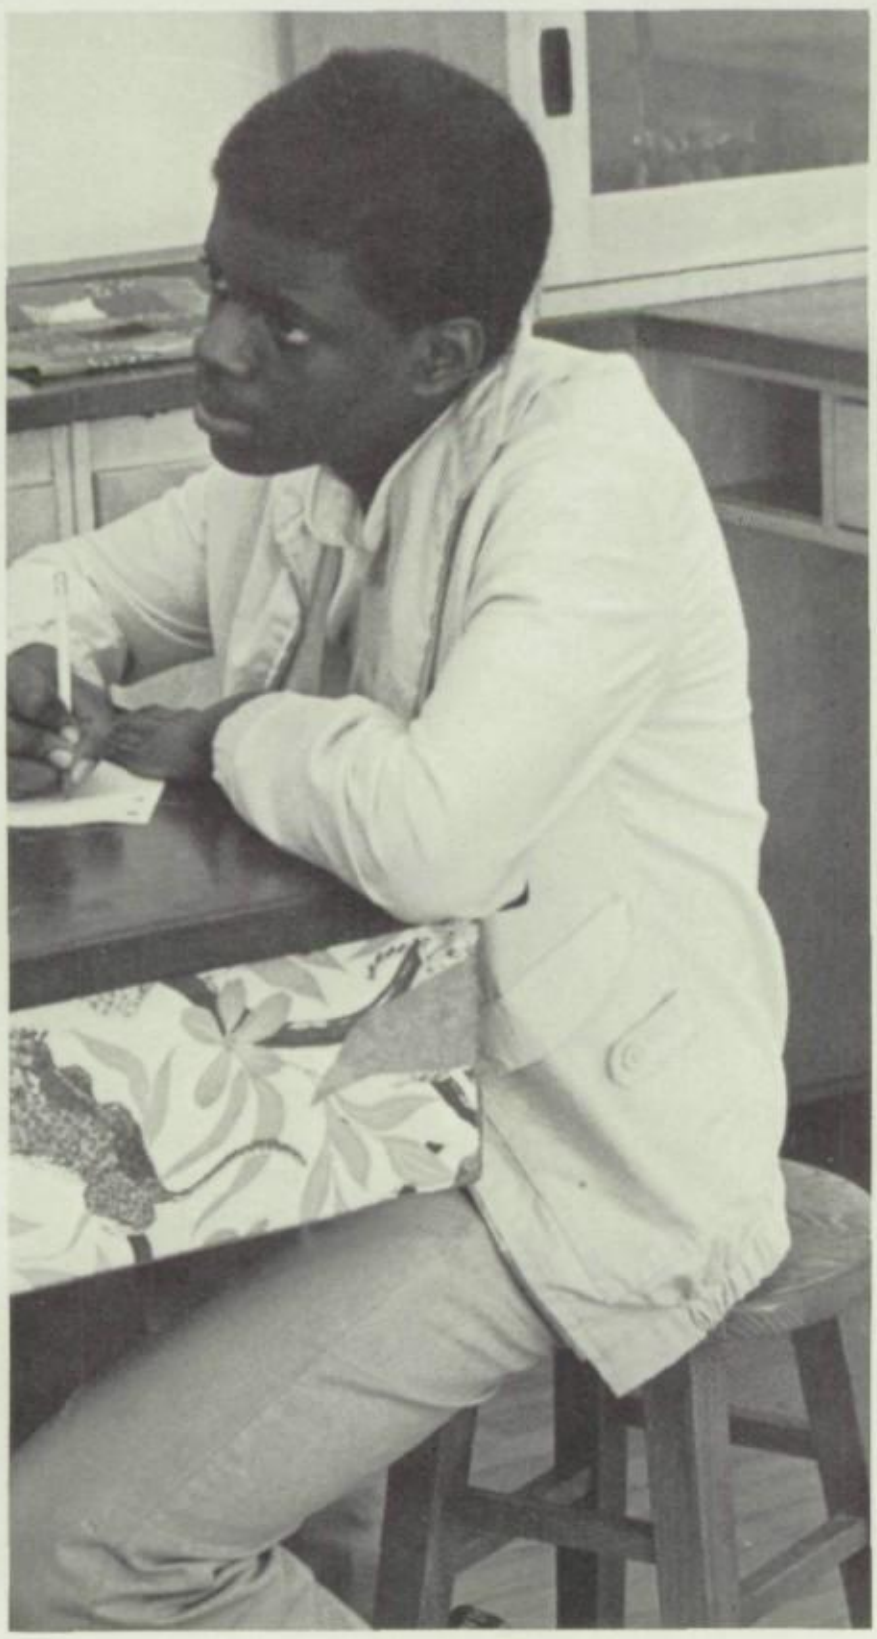
Science

Science courses offered at SHS were Advanced Biology, Physics, Life Science, and Biology. Ann White, the chairman of the department, assisted students in the Open Library. The students' studies ranged from dissection of small animals to cell parts and from labs to properties of light and sound. Not only did the students learn about these sybjects, but also about rocks and minerals. The pupils benefited from their classes.



Top: Winsel Black studies his notes for his science class.

Social Studies

The Social Studies department, under the coordination of Miss Miller, provided students with six different courses from which to choose. Such topics included United States History,Western Cultures and Eastern Cultures, Practical Democratic Problems, Constitution/Law/International Affairs, and finally, sociology and economics. Each and every course provided students with an excellent year of learning.

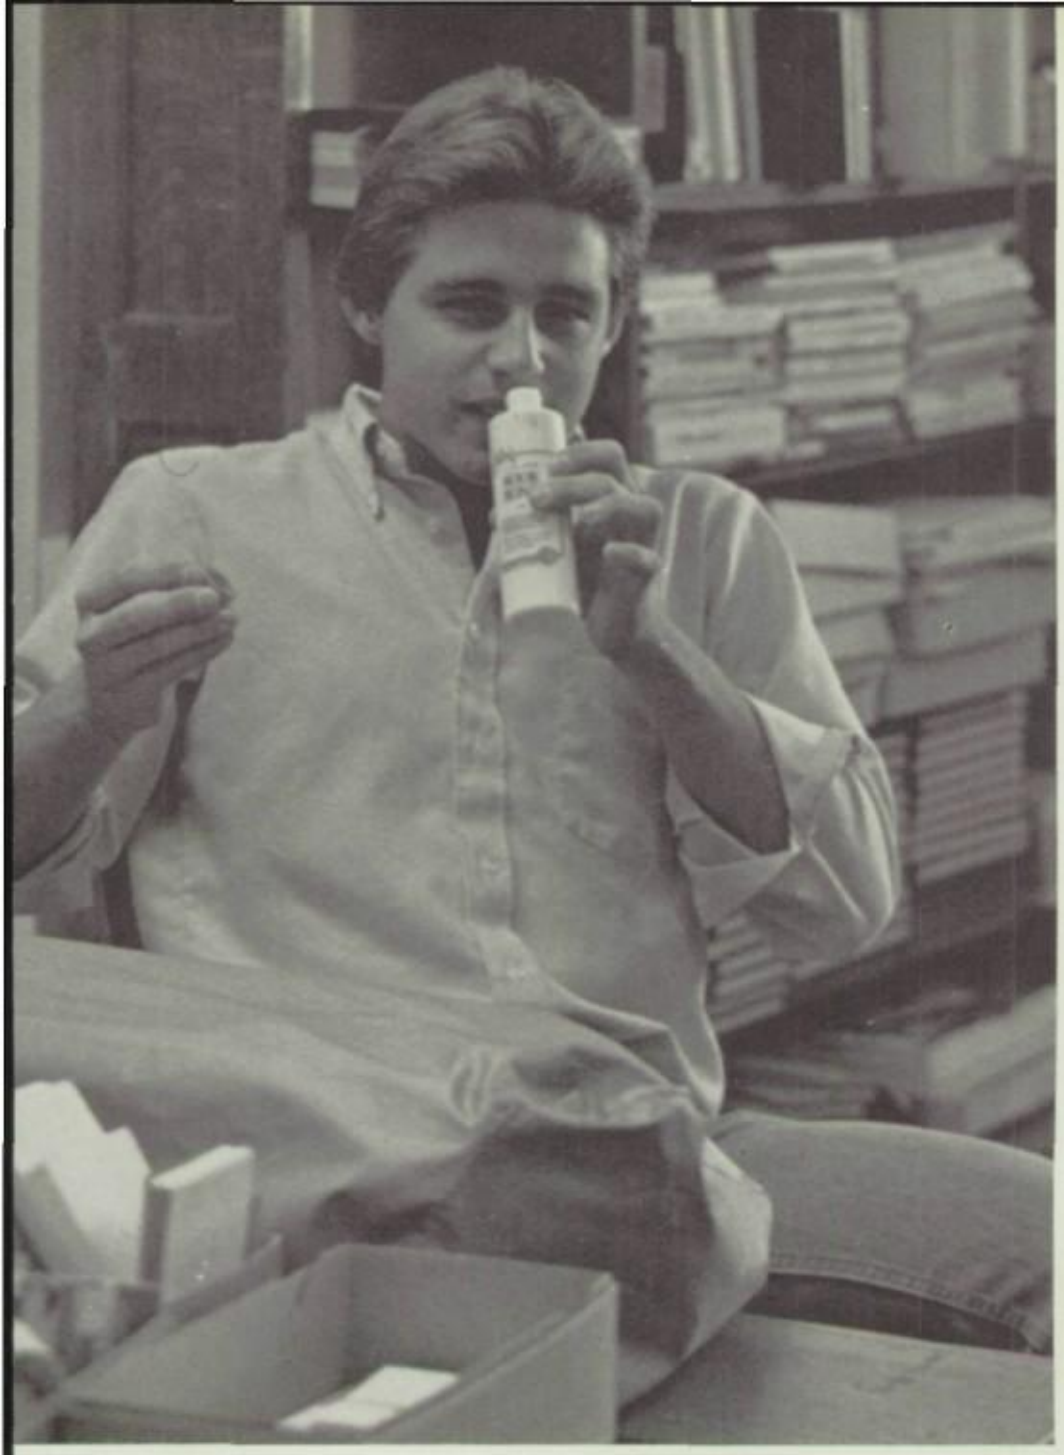
Bottom right: Involved in exciting news of the day, students await the arrival of a speaker, who spoke to the class on prison life.



Library

Salisbury High's media facilities, directed by Miss Brooks, head librarian, and her assistant, Mrs. Long, provided service for students and teachers. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights the library was open once again to allow pupils to obtain personal help from the teachers and to use the reference books. Teachers from all major courses were there.

Center right: A row of encylopedias aid in providing students with lots of information from which to do research.

Business

Through the Typing and Office Occupation classes, Mrs. Angert taught her students the importance of meeting deadlines wirh accuracy. Students were also taught how to take quick notes by using shorthand. Mr. Bill Lee, a new member of the staff, taught Accounting One and Two classes. These courses were intended to help students interested in majoring in Business Adminisration in college. All students enjoyed these courses.

Home Economics

Cooking and sewing were taught in many of the Home Economics courses. This helped students to prepare well-balanced meals and design their own clothes. Family Living was also taught by Mrs. Marrow to teach each of the students the importance of nutrition. In the Child Care Services program, students went to area elementary schools and worked as teachers' aides. The Food and Nutrition/Clothing and Textiles course was new.

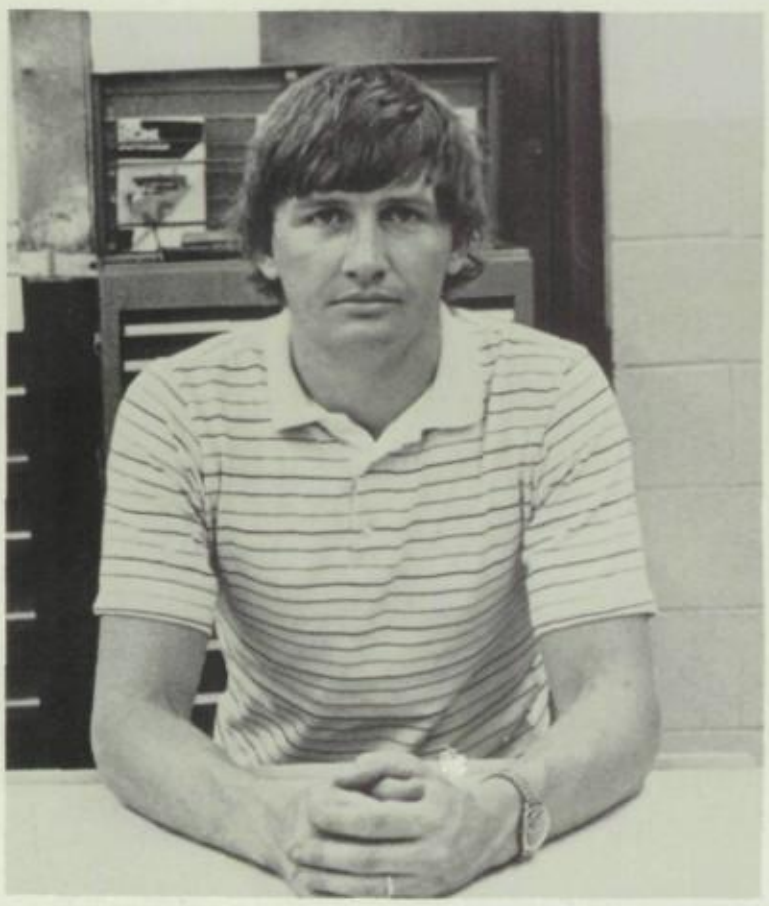
Industrial Arts

Blueprint reading added a new dimension to the department of Industrial Arts. Course study involved drawing and explaining blueprinting using many different instruments. Also an added attraction, Carpentry III stipulated apprenticeship by ICT job placement in the trade area of carpentry. Skills provided students with excellent chances for success in the job market.



Top: Scott Setzer works diligently on a project.

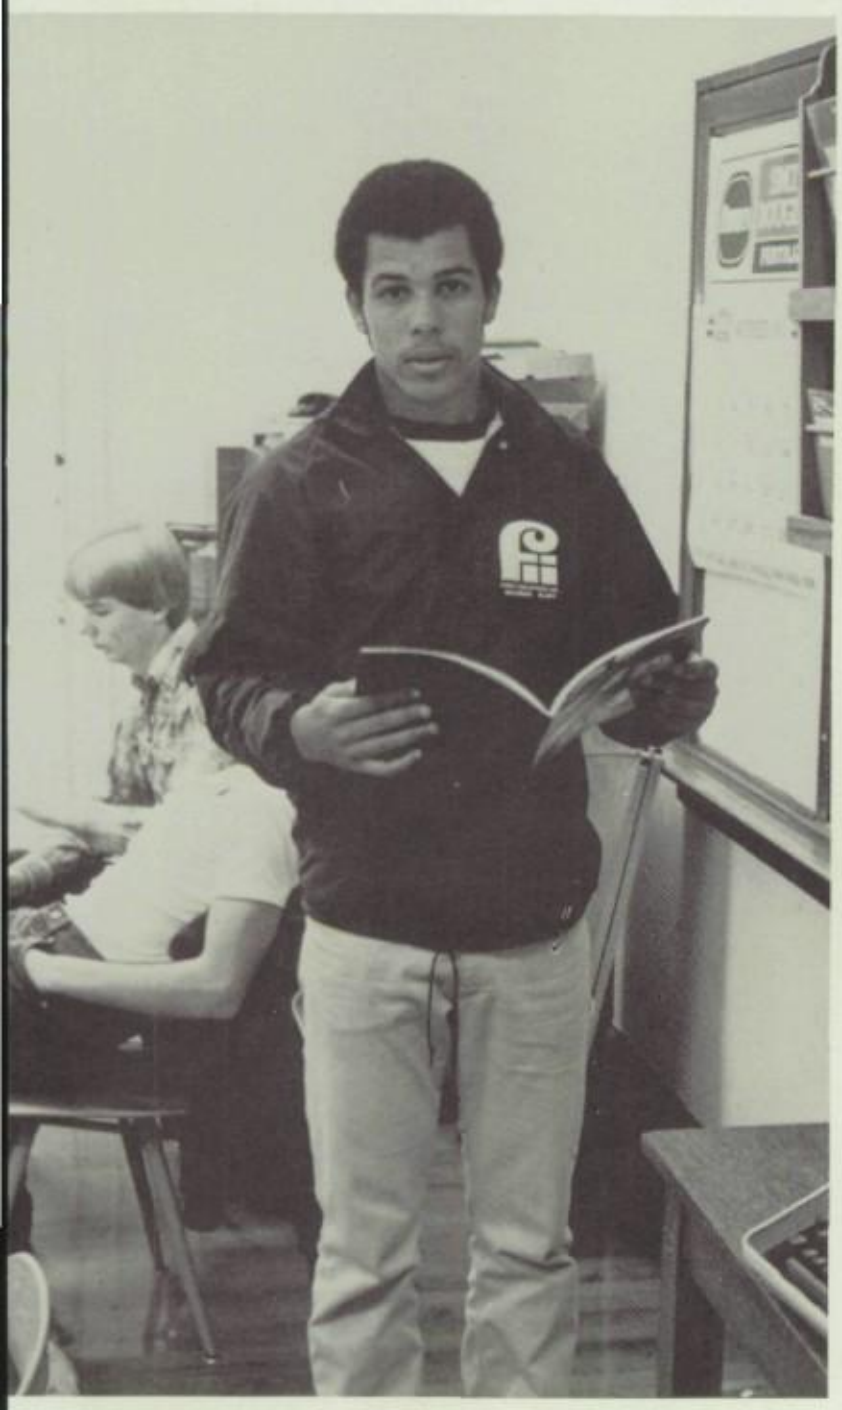
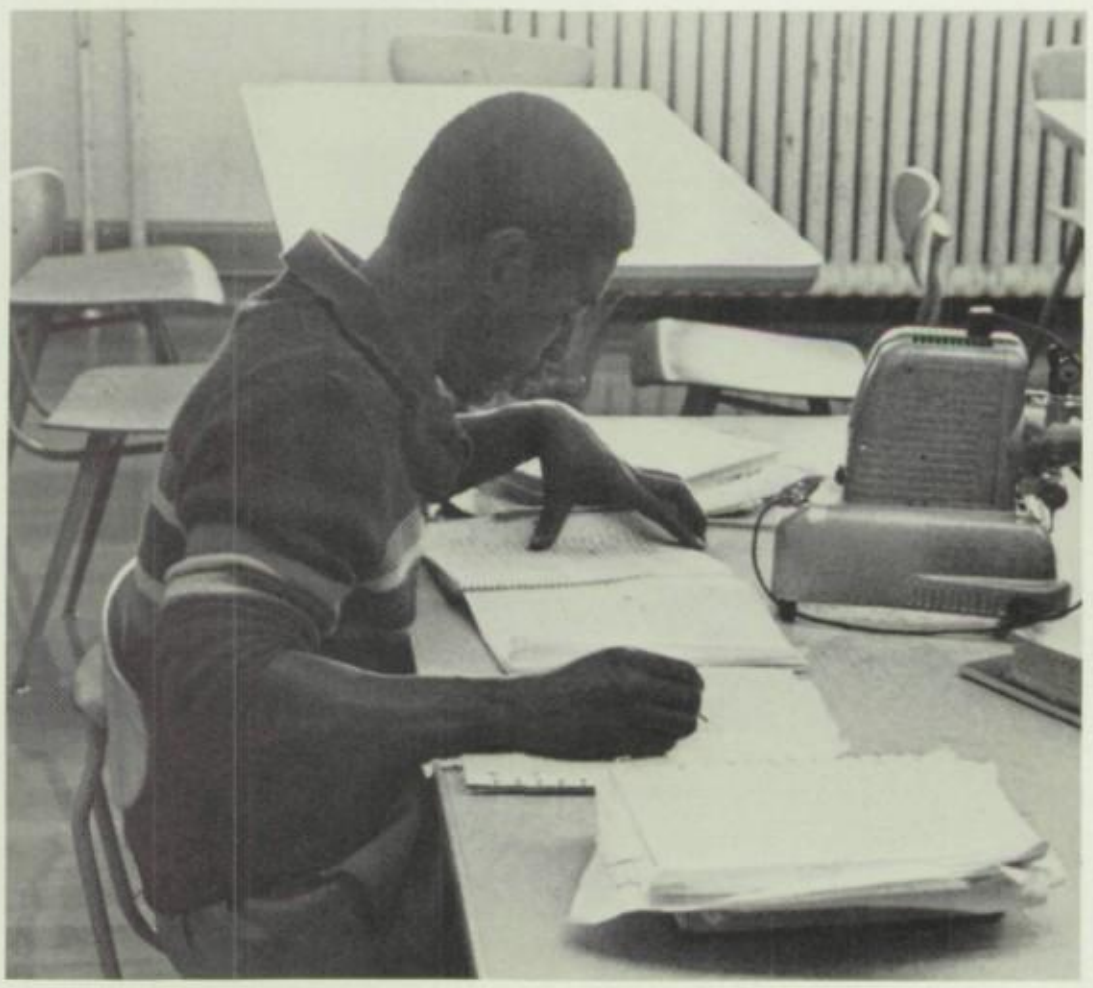
DE-ICT

Incorporating several different job situations with classroom activities, Distributive Education and Industrial Cooperation students exemplified an ancient adage advocating experience as the best teacher. Establishing foundations for future employment, these opportunities set molds for characterization of the individual. Study and hard work proved most productive.





Top: Socializing in class, students take a break from daily routines.

Art

Mr. Frank Saunders taught Art this year. His students created clay pots, collages, oil and water color paintings as well as pen and ink drawings. Some of these drawings and paintings were displayed on the bulletin board in the office. His students had the chance to enter various art shows. The art students enjoyed this class a lot because it gave them the opportunity to display talent.

P.E.

Miss Carolyn Murray taught P.E. to girls. Some activities were volleyball, basketball, and bowling. She was also coach of the girls' tennis team. Mr. Mack Byrd taught P.E. to boys this year. Their activities included wrestling, bowling, and basketball. He was also coach of the boys wrestling team. Most students enjoyed the vigorous exercise they received in P.E.

Homecoming Court

Fourteen young ladies served as the reigning court for the Homecoming festivities. These fourteen girls were chosen by the Sr. class from a list nominated by the Varsity football team. Homecoming Activities

Homecoming at SHS this year was an unforgettable occasion. The events began early in the afternoon with a parade complete with floats and beauty queens. The fun continued with the football game during which the Homecoming court made another appearance. Later came the dance which was a total success. Without a doubt, this Homecoming surpassed all others.

Interclub Council

The Interclub Council was a new association at Salisbury High. It was a small group consisting of the presidents of the major clubs at the school.The members met every couple of months to discuss school projects and to avoid an overlapping of services. Its aim was to promote better coordination among club projects. The clubs involved were Keywanettes, Key, French, Spanish, AFS, and Jr. Civitan.

Right: Presidents of the Civic, AFS, and Language Clubs served as members of the Interclub Council.

Junior Marshals

Fourteen students were chosen on the basis of their high academic standing from the Junior Class to be marshals. The marshals served in the Graduation of 1980 as ushers. Two of the marshals, Lane Harvey and Dena Lerner, were chosen to be co-chief marshals because they had the top academic averages. Mr. Charles Hellard was the advisor for the marshals.

National Honor Society

The honorable NHS Club's foundation is built around four main topics: leadership, character, scholarship, and service. The new members were inducted into NHS, based on these qualities, during a formal ceremony. Some activities that the club took a part in were sending academic letters to students, preparing a teachers' salad bar, selling valentines, and dining out.

Quill and Scroll

Quill and Scroll, a club related to the field of journalistic work, is an international honorary society for high school student. In January new members were inducted based on top participation on the yearbook, ECHO, or the HORNET staffs. The inductees and photographers attended a formal banquet where they received a pin and a subscription to a club magazine.

Astra Club

Astra Club, the junior club of the Altrusa Club of Salisbury, was made up of eight senior girls and eight junior girls who did many service projects for the community and the school. Ringing the Salvation Army Bell at Christmas, delivering meals in the Meals-on-Wheels program in Salisbury, and visiting rest homes were examples of some of their community service projects. Supplying goodies for the teachers on teacher work days was one of their school projects.

Junior Rotarians

Junior Rotarians, an honorary society for senior boys, consisted of ten boys who had the highest grade point averages. The members (Eddie Bean, John Bernhardt, Mike Gulyn, Kendall Huffman, Charles Jarrett, Jim Loeblein, Tom Loeblein, Bennett Parker, Jimmy Keen, and David Thomas), attended meetings with the Rotary Club of Salisbury on every Tuesday.

Junior Civitan

The Junior Civitan club worked for the past nine months as a productive service organization for our community and school. Lane Harvey presided over the club and lent her support and leadership. All of the members put forth the effort to achieve success. The club's productive year was a result of the many projects which were organized by the executive board. Some of the projects were working in the concession stand, helping several needy families during Christmas, and giving a party for Thanksgiving to some of the retarded citizens of Salisbury.

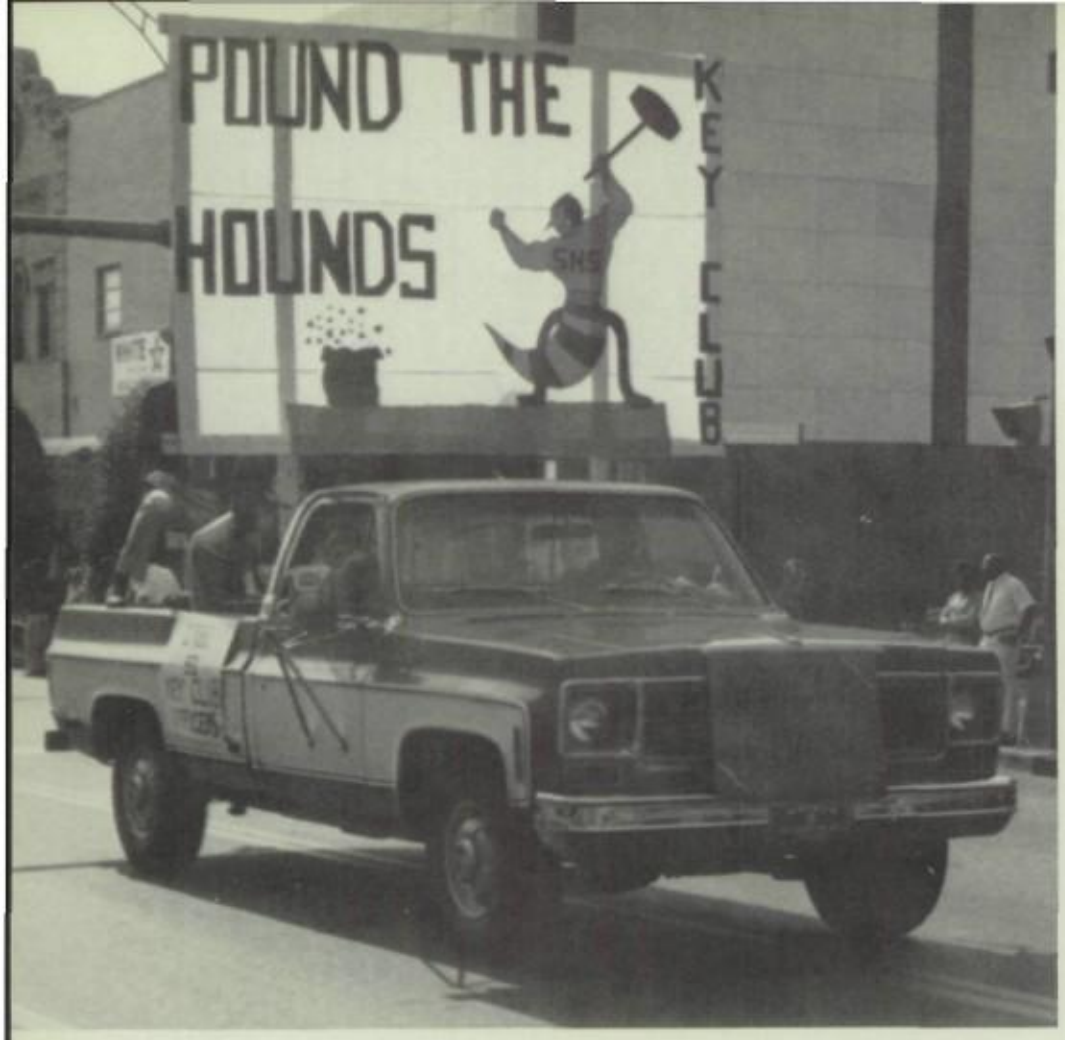
Bottom: "Hats off" to the executive board of Junior Civitan.



Key Club

The Key Club served the school and community well with their many service projects. Ringing the Salvation Army bell, sponsoring car caravans, working for the Crop Walk and managing the concession stand for the Varsity football games were a few of their civic activities. Pizza sales, their annual money making project, were very successful. Every member sold ten pizzas to raise money for the club. The officers developed a point system for all members that gave a new incentive for participation in activities.

Keywanettes

The Keywanette Club had another exciting year of activities and service projects that provided fun while aiding the community. Their projects, which included activities such as selling M&Ms, preparing Thanksgiving baskets, and attending convention, kept all the members involved. Kym DeHart, president, planned the meetings and helped to organize their enterprises. Mrs. Evans advised the club for the ninth year. She coordinated the ideas of members to make their goals achievable.

ECHO Staff

While drawing layouts and writing copy, ECHO members whizzed around looking for new ideas to make the ECHO pleasing to both students and teachers. Mrs. Sherry Howard, advisor, worked together with the editors and the staff to create an enjoyable annual. Co-editor Lane Harvey said that she enjoyed ECHO staff because "We actually made the book, and it was something to be proud of." The staff also sponsored the magazine sale which helped to raise money for the annual.

HORNET Staff

Starting with a general knowledge of journalism, the staff produced newspapers that reflected the hidden talents of every member. Mrs. Jo Beam, advisor, gave the students the incentive to strive for quality publications that the school could be proud of. Editor Yvette Robinson said, "Working on the HORNET staff has been an extremely educational experience for me since I plan to enter the journalism field as a career."

TWA Dramaticus Stage Crew

The TWA Dramticus Club at SHS used its productions to showcase student acting ability. A major production that they presented was named "Sweathogs' Christmas." As in the past, the club showed productions to the local elementary children. They also gave a play to the student body. The Stage Crew's profound ability to prepare sets was valuable to the drama students. The crew enthralled their audiences with their dazzling scenes. Not only did the crew make sets for plays but they also helped the actors with their make-up. The crew's skill was superb.

FBLA/DECA

Advised by Sue Angert, the FBLA, Future Business Leaders of America, members learned aspects of business careers. Speakers of the business community spoke at their meetings. DECA, Distributive Education Club of America, was advised by Ned Towell. The purpose of DECA was to promote the development of leadership, marketing and distributive skills, and a vocational understanding of marketing. Members worked at various occupations.

FHA/HOSA

The Future Homemakers of America members learned a good deal about homemaking from their two advisors, Mrs. Nancy Marrow and Mrs. Patricia Wagoner. One of the future homemakers' biggest activities was the attending of the Future Homemakers of America's District Rally. Health Occupations Student Association (HOSA), with Pat Bullock as advisor, studied the body and how to keep it healthy. Sponsoring the Great American Smoke-out and assisting on the Blood Mobile were two HOSA projects.

Exchange Students

Adding variety to the faces at Salisbury High was Pedro Bastos from Brazil. He became a part of the Lomax household and participated in all of their family plans, pleasures, and struggles. Pedro continued with his photography interest and helped on the ECHO and HORNET staffs. Also living away from home on exchange for a year was Adele Kirk. She experienced Brazilian culture and finally returned in mid-February. Lane Harvey traveled abroad last summer on a short exchange. She stayed for three months in Italy learning the customs of the Italians.

Top: Adele dreams of her year in Brazil during history class.

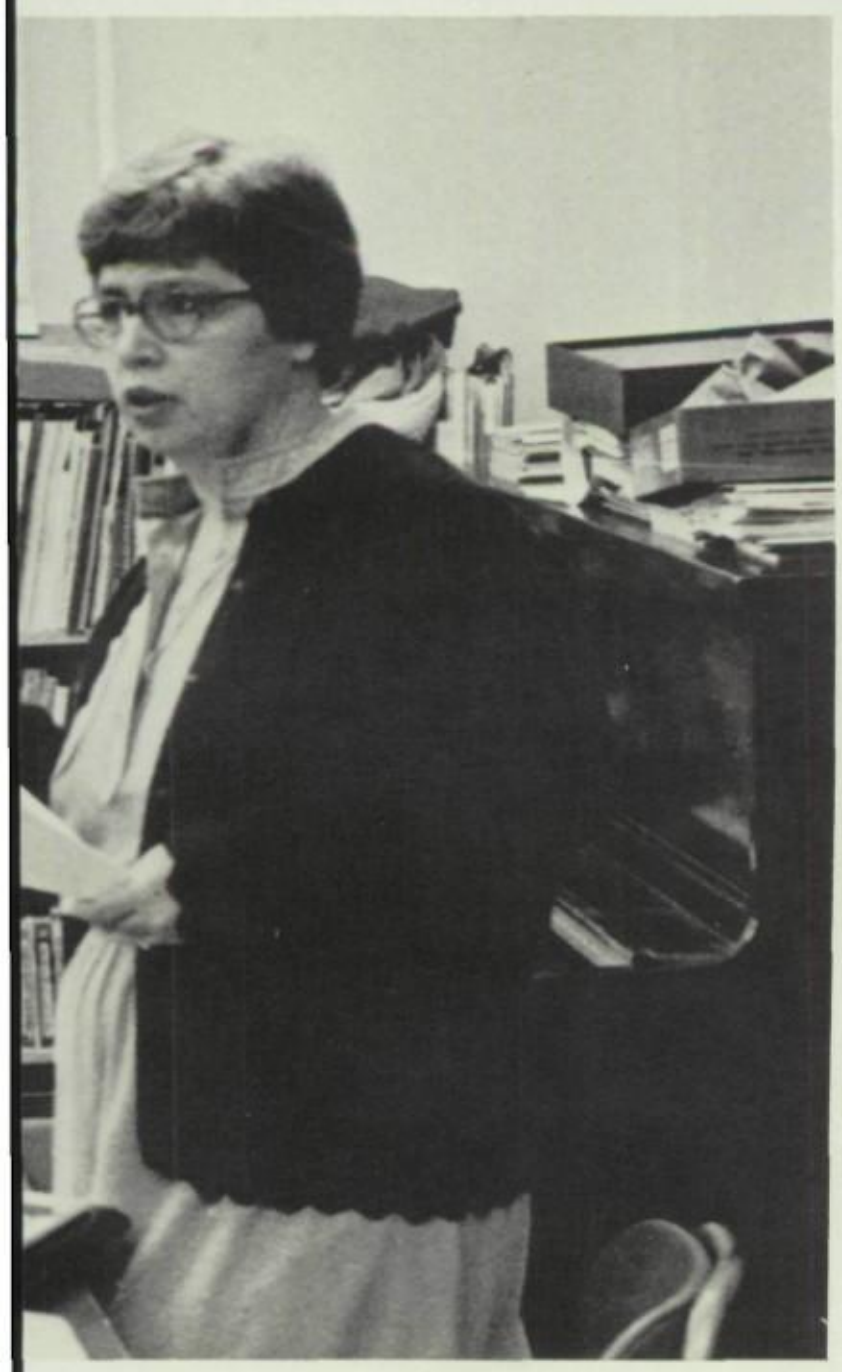
American Field Service

AFS Club was quite fortunate to host Pedro Bastos from Brazil. Also traveling abroad were Lane Harvey to Italy for the summer and Adele Kirk to Brazil for a year. AFS met monthly, headed by John Bernhardt, and participated in AFS Weekend, sponsored the International Banquet, held a square dance, and indulged in various foreign foods. French language teacher Linnea Litaker advised the club.



Top: John Bernhardt, AFS President, informs the members of the AFS Weekend.
Center: Miss Litaker is the advisor of the AFS Club.

Language Clubs

The language clubs enjoyed many cultural experiences relating to French and Spanish customs. Together they jointly sponsored a square dance and later in the year a foreign language buffet. Speakers, who told of their experiences in foreign countries, enhanced club meetings with inspiring talks. Members attended many plays including Carmen and Moliere's play, "The Doctor in Spite of Himself." Future plans include a trip to Europe during the coming summer.

CSF

The CSF club, Christian Student Fellowship, was advised again this year by Miss Becky Ramsey. The club promoted good will towards others and fellowship in both the school and community by doing a number of projects. Some of their projects included the making of Christmas cards for the teachers and the giving of devotions over the intercom in homeroom each school day.

FCA

Twice a month Salisbury High's male and female athletes met to form the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. At the FCA club meetings the members listened to different sports personalities, watched films that dealt with athletics and Christ, and held discussions that concerned daily life and Christ. Coach Charles Hellard served as the club advisor.

Varsity Club

Head football coach Mike Carter undertook the responsibility of advising the Varsity Club this year. Again club members were in charge of attending the concessions at basketball games. Several members served as gym assistants for the sixth period physical fitness class. They helped Coach Carter create the base for improving the team — quickness and strength.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Ten spirited girls made up the Varsity Cheerleading squad this year. Attending camp this past summer and practicing twice a week enabled the team to arouse much enthusiasm and spirit in the spectators. Participating in many fund raising projects, they acquired money for a band at Homecoming and new uniforms. Lending a helping hand in times of trouble, Barry Ferguson was the new advisor.

Drill Team

"I wouldn't trade three years on the Drill Team for anything in the world," said Drill Team captain Jennifer Barrow. She and the twelve other girls dazzled their spectators at halftime with pizzazz and precision. They marched in the Homecoming, Fire Prevention, Veteran's Day, and Christmas parades. Developing impressive routines, they practiced every day.

Band

The SHS marching band continued to produce delightful halftime shows that were entertaining to their many supporters. Led by Mickey Young, the band worked many nights to produce a wide variety of shows. The SHS band marched in the Holiday Caravan Parade, the Homecoming Parade, and the Veterans' Day Parade. Band members also helped boost spirit at pep rallies.

Orchestra

Concerts along with many other types of fun activities were a part of the Orchestra's hectic schedule. For the first time in many years, the members of the Orchestra were represented in the Homecoming Parade Banner Contest. The highlight of the year was the annual ice cream social. In his second year, as director, Jon McCachren further developed each student's talent.

Chorus

The Chorus, which was made up of two choirs and a newly formed music class, had another year of excellent performances. Mrs. Cynthia Pribble was director as well as teacher for her second year at SHS. To provide variation and interest, the Interdisciplinary Music Stage class was established. The two choirs in this department were the Stage Group and Concert Choir.

At the top of the list for school spirit and participation, was the graduating class of 1981. By proving their connections, seniors won the fund-raising spirit chain contest. As the final months unwound, seniors looked toward the future. Opportunities in the job world and college life were anticipated. The time came for the promising young students, who came to SHS three years ago, to gather their many memories and friendships, and cross the stage to new responsibilities and adulthood. It was a year of both excitement and sadness for the

Karen Ammons

Participating in the chorus for the past three years, Karen was honored with a place in All-State chorus in her junior year. She was secretary of NHS, historian of Junior Civitan and Astra, and a member of both AFS and French Clubs. Karen's creative writing ability enabled her to capture the NCCJ Essay Contest title.

Eddie Bean

Excelling in two main school sports, baseball and football, made the FCA and Varsity Clubs available for Eddie's membership. He was chosen to be a Jr. Rotarian and to be a homeroom officer. Eddie held a membership in NHS and Key Clubs. His continued interest in languages caused him to take Latin as well as French.

John Bernhardt

Chosen as a Morehead nominee representing SHS, John was the president of his senior and junior classes. A Jr. Rotarian, he also attended Boys' State. John served as the co-editor of the ECHO and vice-pres. of NHS. A Student Council representative and a Latin Club officer, he was also the president of AFS and French Club.

Diedre Butler

In addition to being on the Student Council for two years and acting as class treasurer twice, Diedre was a homeroom officer as well as Keywanette secretary. She held a membership in Quill & Scroll, Keywanette, FHA, and Spanish Clubs, and she demonstrated her talents in chorus as well as on the yearbook staff.

Kathryn Carter

A Morehead nominee representing SHS, Keg was the vice-pres. of her class in her junior and senior years. As an athlete, Keg played number three on the tennis team (NPC champs), and ran track. Extracurricular activities she was involved in were: NHS, Quill & Scroll, Jr. Civitan, French Club, FCA, and the homecoming court.

Michael Gulyn
As one of the school photographers, Michael was active on both the ECHO and HORNET staffs. He was a Junior Marshal and was in the Orchestra as well as All-State Band. Some clubs Mike participated in were the Quill & Scroll Society, Jr. Civitan, NHS, AFS, and Latin. Mike also served as a teacher's assistant.

Mary Hart
Enthusiastically leading teams to a victory as a member of the cheering squad, Mary helped to guide the annual to a successful finish by serving as one of the managers of business. Mary partook in a number of language, civic, and honorary clubs such as French, Latin, Jr. Civitan, and Quill & Scroll.

Lane Harvey
With a background in the French and Latin languages, Lane went to Italy last summer as one of the representatives of AFS. She was a co-chief Marshal, sophomore class president, and was on the homecoming court. A job as co-editor for the annual led her to Quill & Scroll. Lane served as Jr. Civitan president also.

She was CSF president, mat maid captain, and was a Keywanette member. Andrea also joined in the SPEC activities last summer.

Dell Hudson
In addition to being the Vice-President of the Student Body, Dell was involved in the Student Youth Council, Jr. Civitan, NHS, French Club, and AFS. As a Varsity Cheerleader, Dell helped to spread school spirit throughout the campus. Dell, also, was chosen to be on the homecoming court and to attend Girls' State.

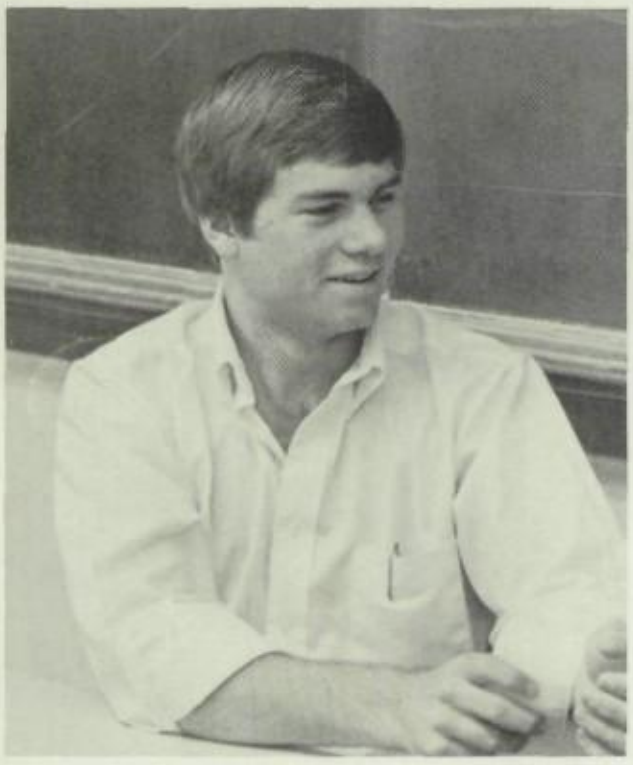
Chuck Jarrett

Chuck, Junior Rotarian and Marshal, was a member of the band, All-State Band, HORNET Staff, Orchestra, AFS, French Club, and Quill & Scroll. He was treasurer of the National Honor Society, plus the assistant concert director of the band. His artistic talent was shown in his drawings he did for the school newspaper.

Dena Lerner

Dena, talented in academics, music, and athletics, was involved in AFS, NHS, French Club, Orchestra, Chorus, and Band. She helped lead the tennis team to be the NPC champs, plus she attended Girls' State. She was also a co-chief Marshal in her junior year and the Keywanette's Chaplain in her senior year.



Jim Loeblein

Jim's interest in SHS's affairs led him to be a homeroom representative and a Student Council member. J.V. football, wrestling, baseball, J.V. basketball, and Varsity football are the SHS sports Jim was involved in. Jim was a Jr. Marshal and a Jr. Rotarian. He was treasurer of French Club and NHS president also.

Tom Loeblein

During his SHS years, Tom played in numerous sports such as Varsity and J.V. football, wrestling, baseball, and basketball. He also was active in NHS, French Club, FCA, AFS, Varsity Club, and Student Council. As the president of Key Club, he was a member of the first Interclub Council at SHS.

Bennett Parker

Bennett was active in numerous athletics as well as school clubs. He attained memberships in the Varsity, French, Key, NHS, FCA, and AFS associations. Bennett also contributed his talents to the baseball, basketball, and football teams. As a Student Council member, Bennett served as the Recreation Committee leader.

Alonzo Shropshire

Alonzo was one of SHS's outstanding senior football players. He played for the Hornet varsity squad during all of his three years at Salisbury High. It is rare for any person to do this. He also excelled academically. Alonzo participated in Honors Assembly, and he attended Governor's school.

Karen Smith

As number one player on the Hornets Girls' Tennis Team, Karen ranked in athletics as well as academics. In her junior year she attended Girls' State, joined Quill & Scroll and NHS clubs, and began working on the annual staff. Some other clubs Karen took an interest in were Astra, Latin, AFS, Keywanettes, and Spanish.

Gerri Spain

Gerri, an active member of NHS, Jr. Civitan, and Spanish Club, was SHS's female athletic star. Gerri played the fifth position on the Lady Hornet Tennis Team which was the North Piedmont Conference champs. During her basketball career, Gerri scored over one thousand points. No other Salisbury girl had done this.

Class of '82

The Junior class started the year off right by using the theme "Pound the Bulldogs" to win first place in the Homecoming float competition. They participated in the schoolwide spirit chain, helping to make it a huge success. The class of '82 began preparing for college by taking the PSAT and attending college day. The juniors ended the '80-'81 year by selling candy for the prom.

Class of '83

Excited about the challenges of attending SHS for the first time, sophomores were inspired to push for new goals. During the magazine drive, they strove hard to claim first place. Their competitive spirit was evident again in the Homecoming float contest. Their theme, "Bulldogs Bite the Dust," brought them to a second place finish. Everyone participated in the spirit chain sale enthusiastically and captured second place. Showing themselves as true Hornets, the students excelled both extra-curricular activities, and in academic areas of achievement. As the end of the year neared, sophomores looked proudly upon many memories which they accumulated during their first year in high school.

J.V. Football

Buzzing through the fall football season, the junior Hornets impressed their spectators. With the help of the coaching staff, the jayvee squad defeated many of the teams in the surrounding area. The J.V.'s used dazzling footwork to outmaneuver their opponents. Some key players of the squad were, Michael Jones, Cullen Jordan, Chip Blake, and William Jordan. With the assistance of these players and other members of the team, the J.V. squad had a smashing season. The young Hornets were admired by all.

Varsity Football

Pounding their way through many tough matches, the football team challenged conference teams defiantly. Skill and strength were key factors in the Hornet attack. Rolling over the North Rowan Cavaliers, the Varisty men recaptured a long-awaited victory in the rivalry between the two schools. The season's action continued to yield victories to the squad until injuries put some vital players on the sidelines. The Hornets finished the season with a 7-3 record.

J.V. Basketball

"This year has been a struggling but learning year for the J.V.'s," said rookie Coach Bill Lee. The Junior Varsity Basketball Team has had an up and down season this year. Led by Jeff Bowden, Jeff Goldman, Brad Walser, Chip Blake, and Perry Campbell, the team showed potential to be a good contribution for the Varsity team next year. Mr. Lee felt that with year-round practice, they will be an asset next year.

Girls' Basketball

The final points were scored and the Salisbury Hornet girls ranked high in the conference. The girls earned fourth place after surviving a long season. This year all of the girls showed excellent improvement from the previous year. Leading the scorers was Gerri Spain. Gerri pocketed over 1000 points for the Hornet girls in the past three years. Sylvia Brown, finishing her first season as coach, guided the girls in an exciting year of basketball. The girls racked up a 12-12 mark in establishing a record for victories in a season.

Varsity Basketball

A highlight of the Hornet's season was winning the Catawba Christmas Classic. Kevin White, a junior, received the Most Valuable Player award. Senior Keith Perry, sole returning letterman, provided the young team with leadership. They finished a trying year with a 7-17 record. The Hornets wound up the year by taking seventh in the NPC. Salisbury should look forward to a fantastic season next year with the return of many seasoned and experienced juniors. New coach Charles Hellard was instrumental in the development of these men.

Wrestling

The 1980-1981 wrestling squad was a inexperienced team. Of the twenty-eight members. fourteen has never wrestled. According to Coach Byrd, "Anyone can be a wrestler." Ray Byers and Greg Schwartzbach were proof of this. Ray Byers finished a very good season with a record of 13-4. Greg Schwartzbach also obtained a fine record of 18-3. Coach Byrd brought the Hornets through a strenuous season in which the team worked to better their coordination and skills. Coach Byrd anticipates a strong squad for the next season.

Baseball

For the second year in a row, the Hornet Baseball team had an outstanding season. Finishing second in the conference, the SHS sluggers completed the season with a record of 10 wins and 6 losses. Coe Brier and Jim Loeblein, two of the team's major standouts, were selected for the all-conference team because of their spectacular performances on the field. Serving as team leader, pitcher Monte Martin helped to boost the team's spirit through the rough spots. Mike Carter enjoyed a good year as the new baseball coach.

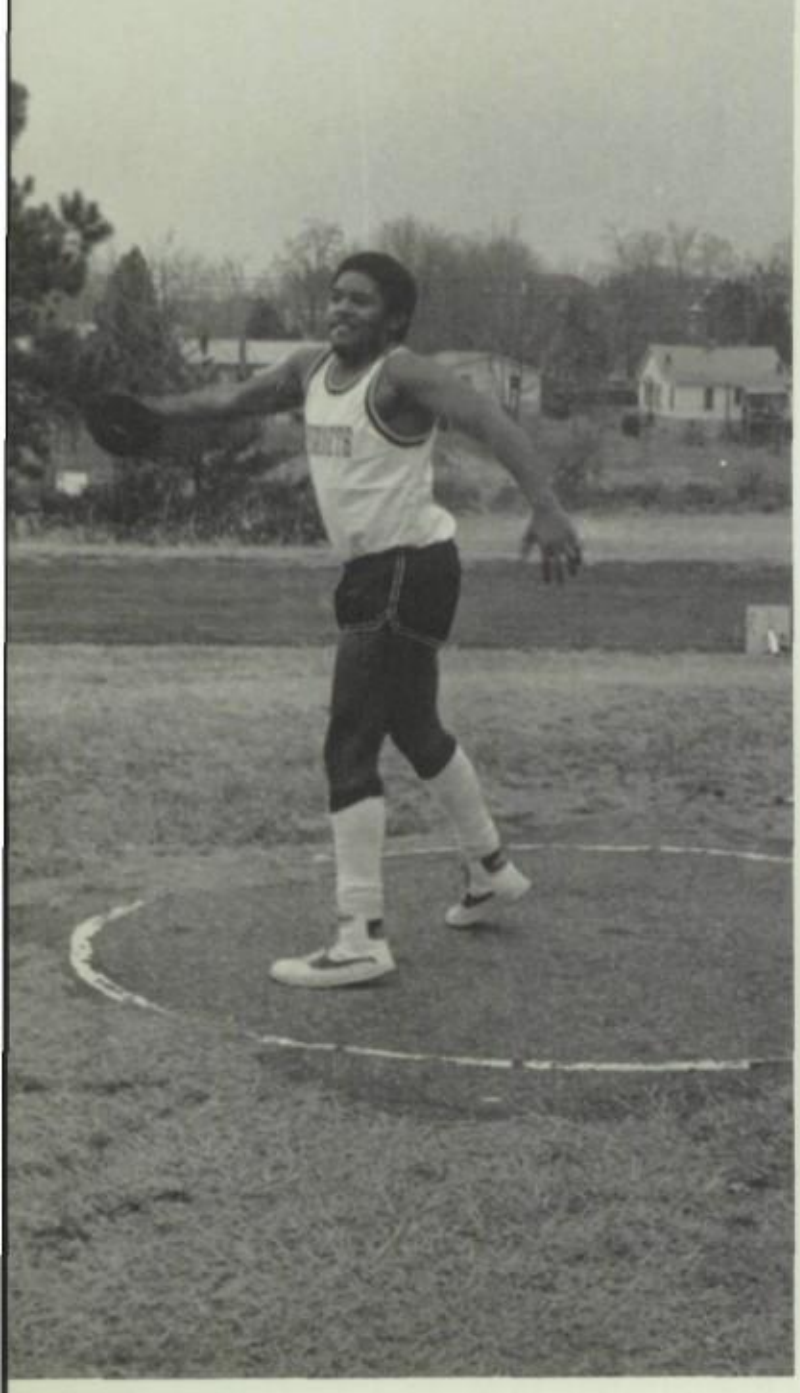
Boys' Track

Dan Henderson, a new member of the SHS coaching staff, took over the boys' track team. While supervising the running events, Coach Henderson relied on Aron Neely for experience in coaching the field events. This dynamic combination proved favorable throughout the season. Having an abundance of potential, the Hornets romped the conference placing first in all but one regular season meet. Avenging their defeat, the Hornets won the Rowan County Title. They also placed second in the conference championship meet.



Top: During practice, members of the team refresh their bodies between vigorous laps.
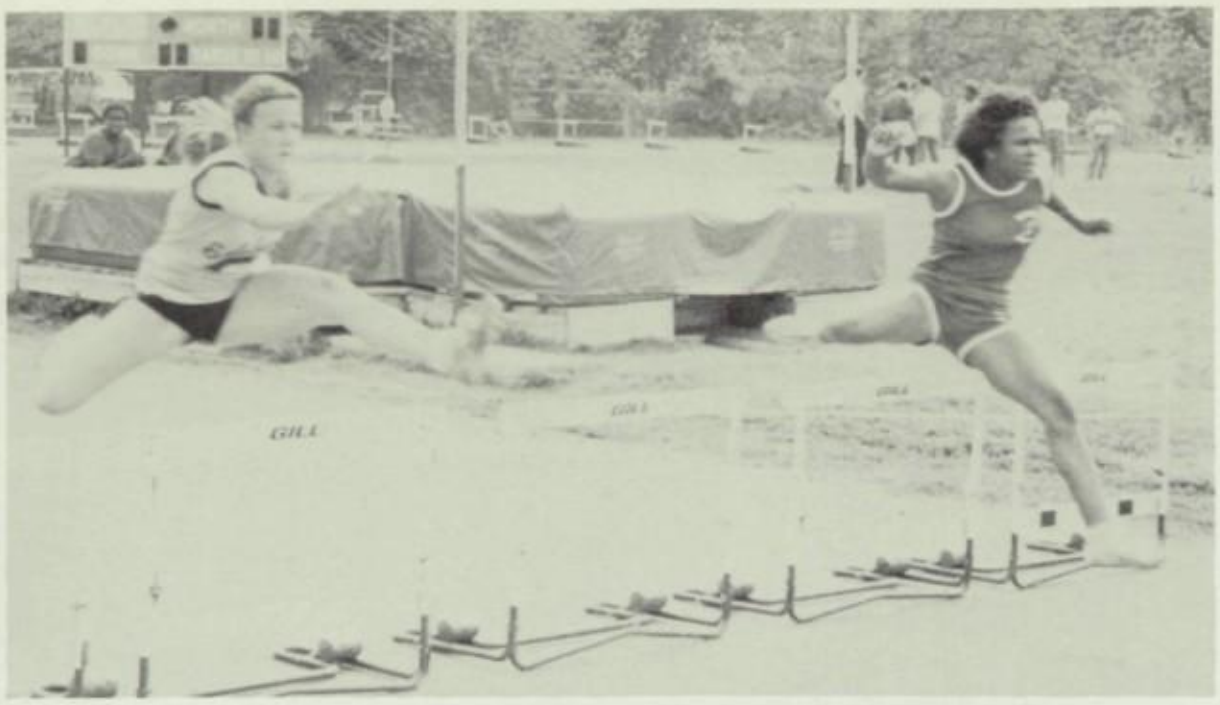
Left: Nasby Mills works on correct form.
Right: Vaughn Nelson runs for enjoyment.



Girls' Track

Taking responsibility of the girls' track team, Carolyn Murray assumed a new coaching position. The "Lady Hornets." a fairly young team, made giant steps in quest of one goal — to be the best all-around women's track team. By defeating several opponents, the team gained recognition and respect as a future threat to both North Piedmont Conference and All-Rowan County titleholders. Although stand-outs were extremely limited, a few members of the squad were determined to make their names known among the best. Jody Wynruit and Teresa Hudson were two of such.

Top: Susie Warren demonstrates excellent form as she jumps hurdles.
Middle: Susie Warren extends her lead by exhibiting speed and tremendous stamina.
Bottom: Gerri Spain clears the bar.

Girls' Tennis Team

Booming through an undefeated season, the girls' tennis team racked up a total record of 15-0. Karen Smith, Keg Carter, seniors, and Molly Brooks, a sophomore who held the number two position in singles, all ended the season with undefeated records. In addition to being unbeaten, Smith and Carter advanced to state competition. The final team match led Coach Carolyn Murry to the ninety-ninth victory of her total career of leading the girls' team. Returning to play next year will be Molly Brooks, Dana Rice, Sharon Miller, and Kim Connell.

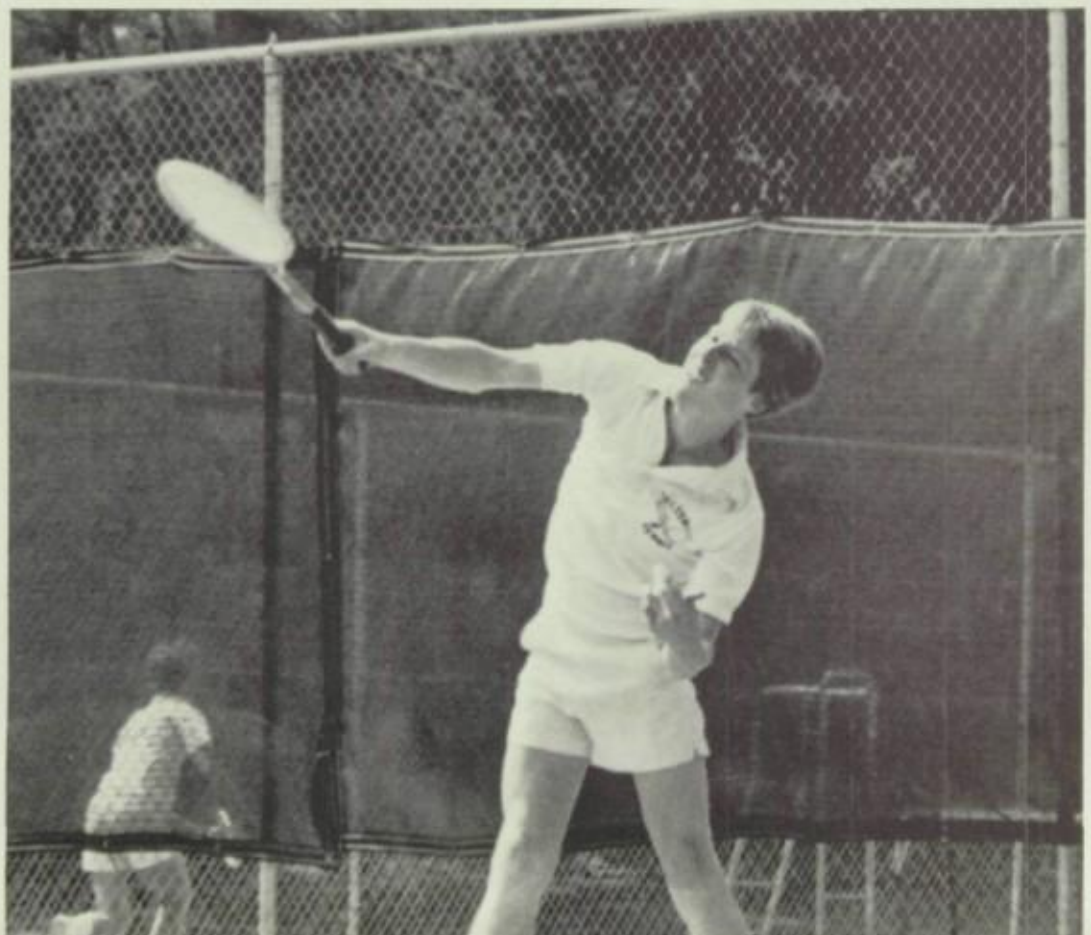
Middle: Karen Smith scoops up a low shot.
Bottom: Keg Carter lunges for a backhand.



Boys' Tennis Team

The spring of '80 resulted in a large turnout for the boys' tennis team. With only two seniors participating in top six competition, the team battled against experienced opponents for a season record of 9-7. Kern Carlton, returning for his last year on the high school team, captured the sectional championship in singles and was honored as Player of the Year. Although Kern was the only undefeated player during the season, other members had very close overall scores. The other senior team players were Joe Sims and E.R. Haire.

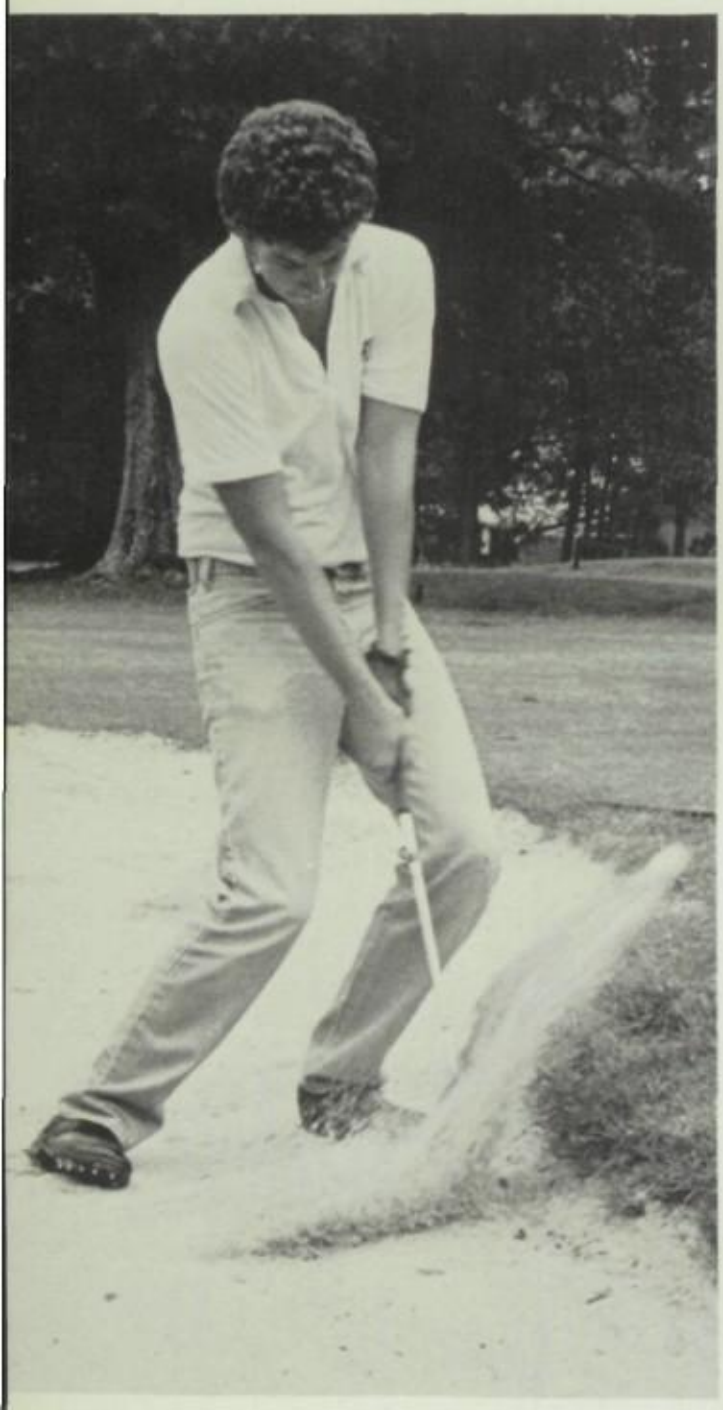
Bottom left: Slamming a killer overhead, Jimmy Keen racks up another point.
Bottom right: Rob Patton extends his arm to return a tough cross-court shot.

Golf

The Hornet golf team finished a successful season by capturing second place in the conference tournament and third place in the sectionals. The team was composed of junior and senior young men. Coach Bobby Pharr helped make possible their success. Senior Joey Rusher was a valuable player who made the All-Conference listing. Good performances by the entire team resulted in an outstanding year.



Top: Jeff Jordan shows great anticipation as he walks onto the green.

New Activities at SHS

Adding to the already large array of activities available to students, Cross-Country, Swimming, and VICA Club were introduced to the school. These organizations gave athletes and industrial arts students new outlets in which to develop their talents.

Top: Margaret Heitman, representing Salisbury High's swim team, poses for a picture.

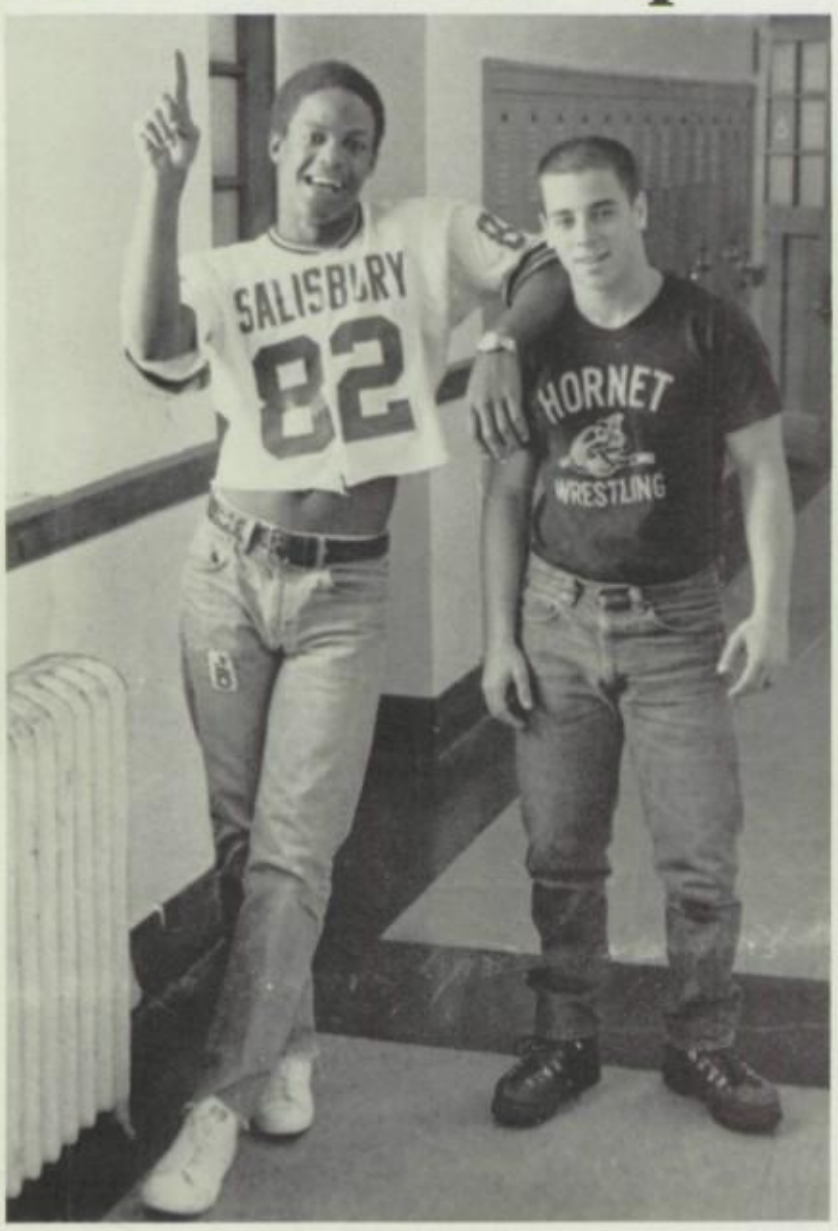
Time to finish up



Top: Spirited fans show support with a rousing cheer.
Right: "Junior-Senior at Jim Shoaf's Barn Dance?!" Student council members say no!
Below: Will Doug Procter, senior, go for the birdie this time?

Top center: Shop students build a group project.
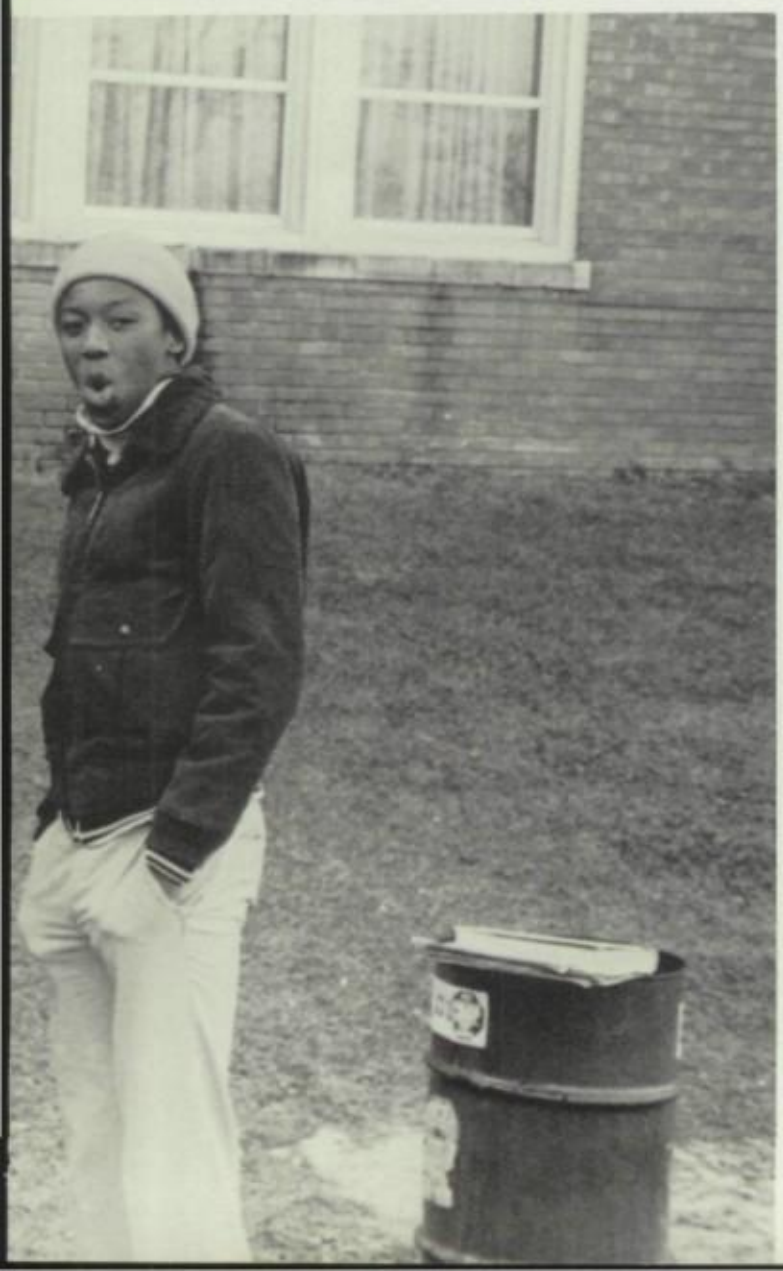
Bottom left: Drew Sylvester and Tony White do their own thing.
Bottom right: Enjoying the outdoor smoking lounge are seniors Willie Hosch and Barry Neeley.



Mr. Time
In his black top hat
and his black tux
with satin lapels
and black button shoes

leered and winked at me
as he pushed me,
blushing and fearful,
into high school
and

club intitation:
sixty short pony tails,
Mom's od dress,
red, red lipstick,
cheering for players
in black and gold,
hearing horror tales about
John Brown,
reading Julius Caesar.

With a nod of encouragement,
Mr. Time dragged me into junior year,
The Scarlet Letter,
wanting to cry at games
because we won
or lost;
with a superior eye
watching the sophomores blunder about.

Smilling indulgently,
Mr. Time booted me into senior year,
SAT's
(vegetable brain),
senioritis and spring fever,
rolled into one.

Beaming proudly,
with tears in his eyes,
Mr. Time saw me
walk across the platform
to my diploma,
independence,
a new life.

Places we've Grown Up With

Our school nestles itself in the historic yet rapidly prospering city of Salisbury. Old homes and gas-lit streets contrast with new office buildings and industries. Salisburians participate in many civic activities and they enjoy pleasant life in a charming town.

Above: Standing as reminder to a valiant Confederate Army, the Civil War monument remains proudly on West Innes Street.
Lower center: One of the Rowan Art Guild's many projects is this historical mural of Old Salisbury.

Left: Facing Main Street is the Roman-styled county court house.

Final notes . . .

Our purpose behind the theme "Time to be together" was to show the friendship, growth, and knowledge that are exchanged during our high school years. Now we would like to take time to thank the many people who made our project a success. Very special thanks go to Mr. Bob Chappell, for showing us that things can be done differently. Great thanks to Hunter Publishing Company, Carolina Camera, School Pictures, Inc., Mr. Fred Setzer, and the Salisbury Post for realizing our goal. Also thanks to Mrs. Ruth Young and her creative writers for their poetry. We would also like to express our gratitude to Mr. Windsor Eagle, our principal, and all the faculty members who had an "ECHO-er," especially Miss Marie Miller, who was very understanding when we had problems. Next, we want to thank our advisor Mrs. Sherry Howard for her support and help through the rough spots. Of course, our greatest thanks goes to our staff and our photographers for working hard and sticking with it. We had to work out many problems and obstacles, but we overcame them all. Be proud of our great effort! Also, special recognition to artist Chuck Jarrett, for adding his creative interpretations of school life. We, as editors, are extremely grateful to all those people and companies who took time to work with us on the 1981 ECHO to make it something everyone can enjoy.

Sweet

Michelle,
You a very nice friend whom I have had a lot of fun with in class. Don't forget Michael Post
and the best of luck
in the future.

Marilyn

To a sweet girl who I've enjoyed
having in my classes.
Wanda Smith

Michelle,
to a nice girl that I enjoy having in my class this year, because you are a nice person to talk with in the class room. See you in the future Love Syrup
B.

Michelle,

Welp, another school year has come and gone. I don't think I could have survived without you. I really do appreciat all the times yw go to the library with me and all the fun WE have had at Mc Donalds. As much as I hate GRITS, I am going to miss the class! That lady is so stupid! WE have been so close this year and I have felt toward yw more as a sister than a friend. Thanks for EVERYthing.

much LOVE,
David

P.S.
Jughead!!
